OREGON DEMOCRATIC TERRITORIAL CONVEN-

The Oregon Times of April 18 contains a full and interesting report of the proceedings of the third democratic territorial convention, which was held at Salem on the 13th ultimo. According to the Times every section of the Territory was fully represented, and (adds the Times) "we have attended every territorial convention of the Territory since the democracy organized in 1852, and we think that a better representation of the democracy has never before met in convention." The old patriot and hero, Gen. Joseph Lane, was unanimously nominated as a candidate for delegate to Congress having no opposition. His re-election by an overwhelming majority may be regarded as a fixed fact.

A platform of resolutions was adopted by the convention, the democratic character of which may be inferred from the following specimen planks:

"Resolved, That this convention of the democracy of Oregon reaffirms its devoted attachment to the cardinal decrines and established usages of the great national democratic party, as they have from time to time been proclaimed in our local and national conventions, and maintained in our contest with the federal, whig, know-nothing, and black-republican parties.

"Resolved, That we endorse and confide in the platform adopted by the Democratic National Convention at Cincinnati in 1856, as setting forth the only true, just, and conservative principles for the administration of the general government.

"Resolvet, That each member of the democratic party in Oregon may freely speak and act according to his individual conviction of right and policy upon the question of slavery in Oregon, without in any manner impairing his standing in the democratic party on that account; provided that nothing in these resolutions shall be construed in toleraxion of black-republicanism, abolitionism, or any other faction or organization arrayed in opposition to the democratic party."

The following resolution was also unanimously

"Reserved, That we, as representatives of the democracy of Oregon, tender our cordial acknowledgment to our delegate in Congress, Gen. Joseph Lane, for the faithful manner in which he has discharged the responsibilities of his position, and for his steadfast devotion to the interests of the Territory.

AUSTRALIAN POLITICS.

The ministry of Victoria have lately been defeated by the democratic members of the legislature of Australia, and a new one has been formed, composed of some of the leaders of the opposition. The most remarkable feature in this democratic movement is, that several of the Irish exiles, whom the British government indicted as rebels at home, appear among the most active and prominent among the liberal party in this rich and magnificent country. Mr. O'Shannassy, a native of Ireland, is the new premier; Charles Gavan Duffy, former editor of the Dublin Nation, and one of the principal founders of the Young Ireland party. is minister of public works; and Mr. Foster, another Trish gentleman, public treasurer.

The New York Irish News, remarking on the decided democratic tendency of Australian politics,

"It is evident that another great republic will soon be "It is evident that another great reproduct with soon born of one of England's colonies—another federation, grand, powerful, and prosperous as the United States, is about to spring into existence. We have not received a detailed account of the causes which have contributed to place this semi-frish ministry in power; but, from the construction of such a cabinet, it may be inferred that construction of such a cabinet, it may be inferred that England has lost her held upon Australia. When the previous mail left, Mr. Duffy had obtained a committee for negotiating and forming a federal union of all the colonies of Australia, after the plan of the United States. Australia, with her lovely climate, broad pastures, and golden treasures, cannot remain much longer the colonial dependency of any foreign nation."

SENATOR TOOMBS.

Senator Toombs, of Georgia, is now on a brief visit to Texas. The Austin State Gazette of May 16

"The presence of Senator Toombs in our State on pri-Kansas-Nebraska bill. Arriving in our city on his way, by stage, to the upper Trinity valley, he was called upon by a number of our citizens, and he was also requested to deliver a discourse at the capitol on our national policy. Yielding to this request, he delivered before a large audience of ladies and gentlemen a well-chosen and happily-conceived address upon the topics which have occupied the attention of our country from the days of the Missouri Compromise to the present. He seemed to give in his cuire adhesion to the present organization of the democratic party, as the only means of securing the existence Arriving in our city on his way crat's party, as the only means of securing the extreme of a come tintional Union, and his language conveyed a merited rebut, a to the effort of the few southern men who opposed the passage of the Nebraska-Kansas bill, and afterwards arrayed then, selves in bitter enmity to Mr. Pierce's administration."

THE CASE OF JUDGE LOLING.

The Boston Post has the following in relation to the case of Judge Loring : the case of Judge Loring:

"Massachuserts and the Constitution.—This abolition-know-nothing legislature wound up its action in the address case yesterday in the appointment of a committee to wait on the governor. They are to ask him to remove a public officer for standing by the constitution and the laws of his country—to punish a judge for complying with the oath he took when he entered upon the duties of his office. These addressors hold that the obligation entered into by the fathers to restore fugitive slaves is and and void! The time will come when the good sense of this community will condemn such factious proceedings, and bestow on those who countenance them the reward they deserve. Of course, the committee will meet with no success. The governor will decline to comply with the disgraceful request, and Judge Loring will continue to fill his office. But such proceedings serve to dishenor our Commonwealth, and make it a byword of repressch."

THE LATE JUDGE BUTLER.

The death of the venerable and beloved Judge Buter is thus announced in the Columbia South Caroinian of last Wednesday morning's issue:

"A despatch, last evening, brought us the mournful ut not unexpected intelligence of the departure to his nal rest of our highly-respected and esteemed senator, final rest of our highly-respected and esteemed senator, Andrew Pickens Butler.

"Excepting the late David Johnson, we have never known any citizen so universally popular. He was admired by all for his social and personal character, and equally respected for his ability, learning, and patriotism. We can do no more at this moment but announce his death, which occurred on Monday evening, at 6 o'clock, at Edgefield village, at the residence of his nephew, surrounded by friends, and enjoying the affectionate ministration of his only daughter."

We are indebted to the Charleston Courier for the following biographical sketch of the distinguished and universally-lamented deceased :

following biographical sketch of the distinguished and universally-lamented deceased:

"Andrew Pickens Butler was born in Edgefield district, in the year 1796. His father was the late General William Butler, of Virginia, and his mother Behethland Moore, of Edgefield, the former having migrated from Virginia to this State. He had six brothers, among them George, a gallant officer in the war with Great Britain, who died young; the Hon. Wm. Butler, M. D., formerly a surgeon in the United States navy, and member of Congress from Greenville and its associated districts; and Pierce M. Butler, formerly governor of the State, and afterwards the gallant colonel of the Palmetto regiment, and winner of a glorious death and deathless renown in the hour of victory, at the head of that peerless corps, in the memorable field of Churubusco. They were of patriot stock, their father having done revolutionary and warrior service in the war of independence. Their mother, too, did patriotic service in the same hallowed cause, and was at one time a prisoner to the enemy. His sister was the first wife of the Hon. Waddy Thompson, and all his brothers having preceded him to the grave, he now completes the oblituary roll. He was a pupil of Br. Jannes Waddell, at Willington Academy, that school of illustrious men. He graduated at the College of South Carolina in the year 1817 with distinction, having been awarded a third honor in a class of which the first and second honors were awarded to Charles Fishburn and Archibald C. Baynard, and of which Chancellor Caldwell, Judge Glover, and the Hon. William McWillie, among others, were members and graduates. He served first in the popular branch of the State legislature, and was then transferred to the State senate; and he made his mark, as an able and eloquent debater, in both houses. In 1818 he was admitted to the bar, and almost contemporaneously he appeared before a committee of the house of representatives, in a contested election, between Charles Bussy and William Middleton, of Edgefield d or the Senate, in a very feeble state, having remained un-til the last moment at the post of duty; and returned to his home to mingle his mortal dust with that of his parents and kindred in his native State. His first wife was a Simpkins, who died childless, shortly after their mar-riage; and his second was a Hayne, daughter of the late William Edward Hayne, esq., (son of the revolutionary martyr, Col. Isauc Hayne,) and sister of Isauc W. Hayne, martyr, Col. Isaac Hayne,) and sister of Isaac W. Hayne, esq., our attorney general, she, too, having died in an early period of their wedded life, leaving one daughter, who survives to mourn her beloved and gifted parent.

"It is a melancholy coincidence that Memphis should have had her celebration marred by the death of her mayor on the eve of its occurrence, and that we should be saddened by a similar event on the eve of our responsive fertities."

THE CAPITULATION OF GENERAL WALKER.

By the arrival of the steamships Illinois and Arabia at New York on Thursday we have later intelligence from Central America and Europe of a highly-important and interesting character; but owing to the crowded state of our columns we are compelled to defer the publication of the detals of the news until our next issue. We are in possession of the full particulars of the capitulation of tien. Walker, but for the reason already assigned we are only able to give the following brief account as furnished by a correspondent of the New York Herald:

PANAMA, May 17, 1857.

Panama, May 17, 1867.

The day before yesterday a vessel hove in sight at the entrance of the bay, which at first was supposed to be an English man-of-war, but on her nearer approach we were agreeably surprised to find that it was the United States sloop-of-war St. Mary's, which has just come from San Juan del Sur, Nicaragua, and is commanded by Captain Davis. She brings news of the utmost importance to those interested in the career of Gen. Walker.

Some fourteen days ago, as the allied forces, 3,500 strong, were closely entrenched at Rivas around Walker, his forces being reduced to 200 men, reduced to the extremity of feeding on mules, dogs, cats, &c., Captain Davis offered to act as mediator between the contending parties. The allies were willing to treat on condition that General Walker, General Henningsen, and a Senor Penida, (an influential Walker partisan, citizen of Nicaragua,) being delivered to them. The remaining rank and file they would permit to leave the country. Capt. Davis refused these terms on behalf of Walker. They then reduced their demand to Walker's head alone; and seeming decided on this point, Captain Davis was on the eve of leaving, peremptorily refusing to accede to such a proposition, when they finally agreed to let General Walker, with his staff, numbering sixteen, leave the country, carrying their side arms. Among the staff was Captain Faysseux, who formerly figured as commander of the schooner Granada, in the service of Walker.

General Henningsen was commander-in-chief of the army, and it was to his judicious management that the party were able to maintain their position so long a time against such odds in numbers. As a tactician, Henningsen sen is placed much above Walker. General Walker and his staff were conducted on board the St. Mary's by Lieut. Houston, an officer of said vessel. His force, consisting of near 200 men, it was stipulated should be zent home, and were left in charge of Lieut. McCorkle, also belong-

Under the command of said officer, they will be conducted to a point on the Costa Rican coast where the mail company's coasting vessel Panama, a small steamer, touches. Should they fail to meet this vessel, Lieut. McCorkle will conduct them to Greytown, whence they will proceed to Aspinwall, thence to the United States.

whence they will proceed to Aspinwall, thence to the United States.

The St. Mary's arrived here after a passage on even days. To-day Generals Walker and Henningsen visited Commodore Mervine, on board the flag ship Independence. Gen. Henningsen is universally espected, and is a fine specimen of a soldier. Gen. Walker is a spare man, smooth face, near-sighted, wearing glasses, and is but little communicative. He incurred the displeasure of Capt. Davis during the passage.

The California steamer is now due. In case of her arriving to-night, Walker and his staff will pass over the railroad to-morrow, escorted by a guard from Commodore Mervine. From Aspinwall he wilf proceed to the United States. Thus, for the present, closes the history of the "gray-eyed man."

Among the passengers by the Illinois were Gen. Henngsen and other prominent Nicaraguan officers.

LOCAL NEWS.

ATTEMPT TO ROB.—Last night Robert Morrow's exchange office, on Pennsylvania avenue, between Sixth and Seventh streets, was entered by thieves, who endeavored to break into the iron safe. They managed to cut a heavy lock from the outside of the safe, but failed to undo the inner lock. The desk was ransacked, but nothing was taken. The systematic manner in which they proceeded indicates a thorough knowledge of the business. A fine, new silk handkerchief was left hanging before the window, where it had been placed to prevent the light from being seen in the street; the filings of the lock, a small bottle containing sweet oil, and a quantity of singular-looking earthy substance, were found on the floor. The robbers were evidently after money only; for in the desk were a money scale and a valuable revolver, which they left untouched. Had they succeeded in getting into the safe, they would have got nothing but a few pennies, as Mr. Morrow, since the operations of a former gang were discovered, has never left money at his office. The night before the cellar of the house, occupied by a fruit-dealer, was entered, and probably it was intended then to work into the office. All they obtained from the fruit cellar were a few oranges.—Star. ATTEMPT TO ROB. - Last night Robert Morrow's ex-

The Election Next Monday,—"You are requested to attend a meeting of the American party at the 'Organ' office this evening."—I am informed that a note was picked up a few days since containing the above significant sentence; and, as some of our party are laboring under the impression that the 'dark-lantern' party are making no efforts to carry their ticket at our municipal election on Monday next, I desire to make it public, in order to put them on their guard, lest the apathy manifested by not a few of our law-and-order citizens should be the means of electing on that occasion men belonging to the sume pofew of our law and-order citizens should be the means of electing on that occasion men belonging to the same political party that have control of the Washington Monument, and have advanced it the enormous height of four feet in its construction during a period of nearly three years. Let every property-holder remember how important it is to have men of character, ability, and firmness, combined with unquestionable integrity, to fill the responsible offices of Collector and Register, and (last, though not least—as those of our citizens who have suffered pecuniarily through the incompetency of former incumbents can testify) the office of Surveyor. With Mr. Forsyth, the anti-know-nothing candidate, I have no acquaintance; but had I a doubt as to his fitness for that position, it would be instantly removed on reading the endorsement of his qualifications by a number of the leading men of this city—I allude to the testimonials published in the "States" and other papers.

THE subscribers, grateful for past favors, and finding that a discriminating public were bestowing their patronage to that extent that more warerooms were necessary to exhibit all their stock, have enlarged their depot, by opening an extensive ware and salesroom on Broadway, at No. 251, comer of Murray street, opposite the City Hall. This enlargement of warehouse room, with the recent extensive enlargement of their factory, will enable the subscribers to keep on hand at all times a larger stock of fire and burglarproof safes than any other establishment in the world. Particular attention will be had to constructing safes for private families to match with other furniture, for the security of plate and Jowelry.
